BEYOND THE HORIZON...

IS A WORLD OF WONDER

Some destinations beckon like our favourite dreams, ones we keep on a 'bucket list' either spoken or secret, imagined or real. Now is the opportunity to take hold of those places you've fantasised about since childhood, when pure wonder filled the world. Come aboard and experience locales so numerous, so desirable, so one-of-a-kind that by the end of your journey, you'll need to start dreaming anew.

Consider one of the world's most mystical destinations, Easter Island. Nearly 500 years ago, on a tiny speck of land nearly 2,300 miles from the Chilean coast, the inhabitants of Rapa Nui carved massive megaliths called Moai. Questions have abounded since a Dutch explorer gave Easter Island its name in 1722, and you'll no doubt be searching for clues as you explore this fascinating place.

In the Indian Ocean, off the coasts of Sri Lanka and India, sits another speck of land that beckons world travellers as a truly unique destination. Malé (pronounced maa-lah) is the capital of the Maldives, a small island nation known for laid-back beach vibes and white-sand resorts. Malé, by contrast, is a hub of activity, dotted with brightly coloured buildings and bustling cafes. An overnight stay guarantees you'll gain an appreciation for authentic Maldivian life before continuing onward.

Just north of South Africa in the Mozambique Channel, Maputo awaits with jacaranda-lined avenues and Mediterranean-style architecture that make it one of Africa's most beloved capitals. Founded as a port city by the Portuguese, Maputo is Mozambique's sparkling, cosmopolitan jewel. It's an evolving city that you'll recall long after Seven Seas Mariner carries you and your fellow travellers around the African coast.

BEYOND THE HORIZON...

IS WILDLIFE YOU'VE ONLY DREAMED OF

From the green, hawksbill and loggerhead turtles found in the waters off George Town to the tropical parrots that populate the artsy urbanscape of Barcelona, you'll encounter a cross-section of wildlife that very few get to experience in person.

In Manta, you'll hear howler monkeys before you see them. Found in nature reserves and animal sanctuaries, the distinctive monkeys emit sounds that range from a grumpy German shepherd to a baby's cry to a low, haunting moan resounding through the verdant trees. Bird lovers will find hummingbirds, yellow-rumped cacique, speckled chachalaca and spectacled owls flittering in the tropical canopy.

There's truly no comparison to seeing the tremendous variety of marsupials, birds and reptiles of Australia in person. Visit animal sanctuaries near Darwin, and get up-close to kangaroos, koalas and wallabies, as well as Aussie birds like parrots, cockatoos, lorikeets, doves and rosellas. As Darwin is in Australia's tropical Northern Territory, there's plenty of crocodiles to be found there, too.

Though a bustling commercial hub, Colombo has wildlife sanctuaries where you can see lemurs, monkeys, apes, the Sri Lankan leopard, African lion and Bengal tiger, plus African and Asian elephants. Exotic varieties of herons, cranes, pelicans, coots and ibis abound at local bird sanctuaries.

The renowned Big 5 of South African wildlife — lion, leopard, rhinoceros, elephant and Cape buffalo — may be found in proximity to an out-of-the-way port city like Richards Bay, which is also one of South Africa's top water bird areas.

BEYOND THE HORIZON...

IS A TRUE SEAFARING ADVENTURE

The lure of long-distance travel upon immense bodies of water is as old as humankind itself. Painters, poets and songwriters have long drawn inspiration from the appeal, the challenge and the mystery of what awaits beyond the horizons of blue, green and turquoise seas. Dr. Samuel Johnson famously wrote, "When a man comes to like a sea life, he is not fit to live on land."

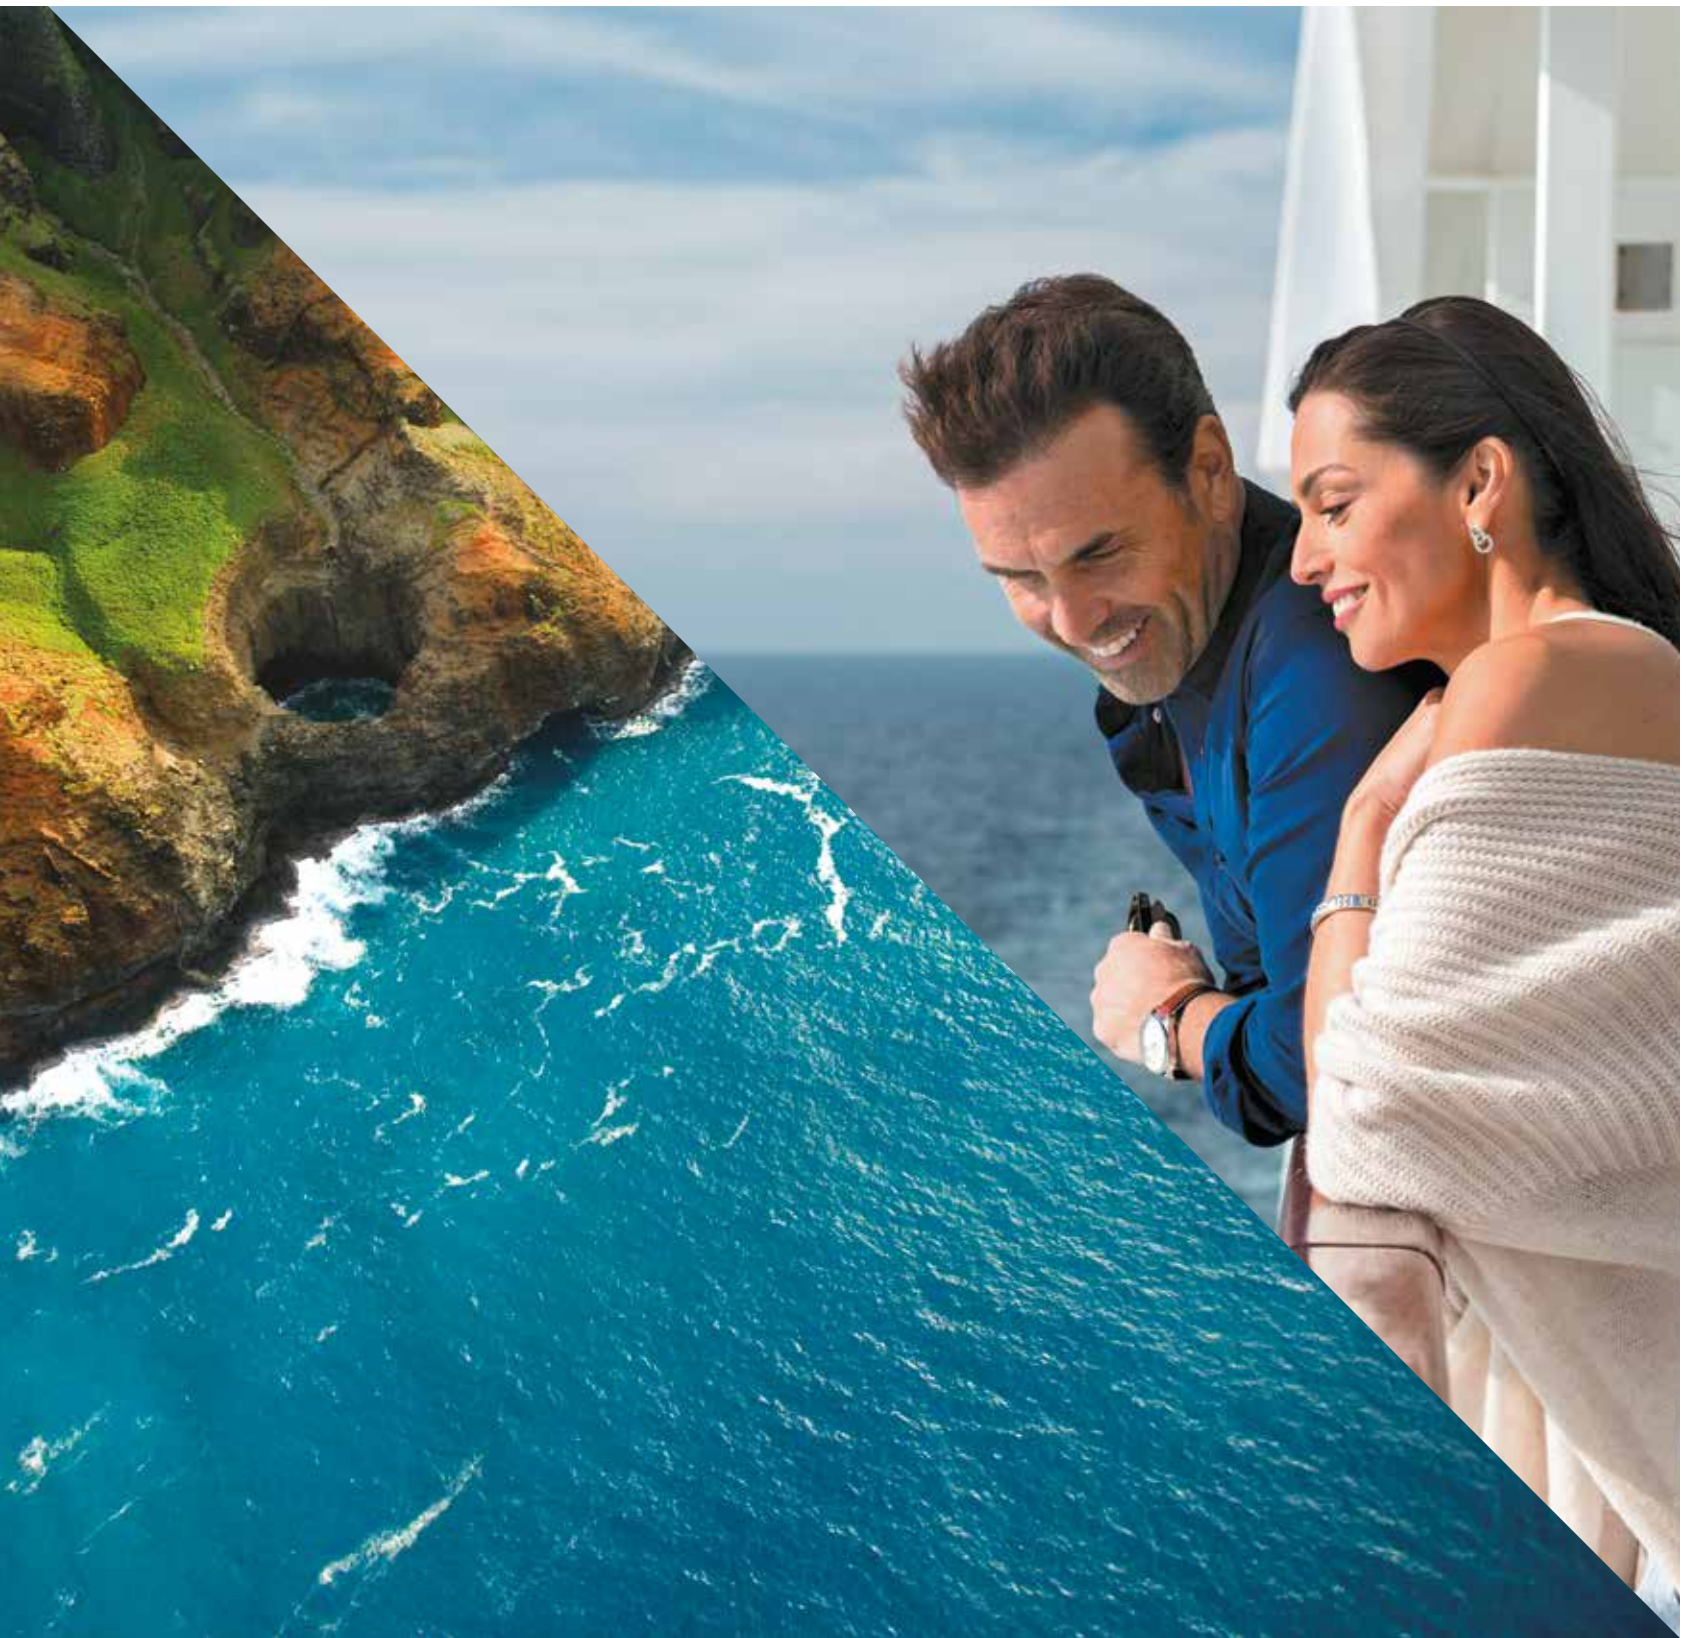

When pushing off from the Port of Miami, we're certain you'll quickly adapt to the sanguine pace of life at sea. It may be true, as novelist Joseph Conrad wrote, that "He who loves the sea loves also the ship's routine." But open water also fuels a desire for adventure, and you'll find it as you transit one of the 20th-century's greatest technological achievements — the Panama Canal — before entering the world's largest expanse of water, the mighty Pacific Ocean.

As you settle into ocean life, be prepared for a soaring of the spirit. It may come while standing on your balcony, morning coffee in hand, watching diamonds of sunlight sparkle on a sea that stretches to never-ending horizons. Or it may be fired by the rhythms and sweet smells that welcome you to the South Pacific islands of French Polynesia. Mythic, heavenly, verdant — exactly as you'd expect yet shockingly sublime — a people and place you'll never forget on your journey of a lifetime.

As you'll joyously discover, this pattern is repeated. Hypnotic, almost addicting days and nights aboard Seven Seas Mariner, peppered with the excitement of what awaits at the next port of call. Heading south through the Coral Sea, watching for the spectacular Australian coast while navigating the Great Barrier Reef. Visiting a wish-list of cities that ring the South China Sea. Island hopping in the Indian Ocean. Crossing the fabled Arabian Sea on your way to the Gulf of Oman. Rounding the southern tip of South Africa, where the Indian Ocean meets the Atlantic.

All told, a seafaring adventure as majestic as any ocean.

BEYOND THE HORIZON...

TROPICAL OASES AWAIT

Perhaps the greatest reward for embarking on our world cruise is discovering destinations so off the beaten path that they seem barely touched by travellers. Nowhere is this reward more striking than at the dozens of tropical ports boasting calming blue waters, glistening strips of white sand, verdant slopes and friendly locals.

While this description fits any of the French Polynesian ports of call that precede it, Pago Pago conjures images of a South Pacific steeped in lore and legend. Tutuila is home to the bustling fishing town of Pago Pago, which sits on a jaw-dropping harbour created by a submerged crater that collapsed millions of years ago. Authentic Samoan traditions thrive in this island nation that's believed to be the birthplace of Polynesian culture. Their proud spirit will fortify you long after leaving.

Now, close your eyes and envision an 'island paradise'. Open your eyes and you're in the Seychelles, roughly 950 miles east of Africa in the Indian Ocean. La Digue, the third largest of the country's 115 islands, features endless coves of pristine beaches and barely a hint of development. Some of the most popular beaches are reached only by foot, and bicycles are the most practical form of transportation.

Sitting off the coast of Southeast Africa, Mayotte is a truly offbeat destination. You'll find one of the largest and deepest lagoons in the world, a breath-taking volcanic range running the length of the island and a culture ripe with regional history and a vibrant blend of local influences. It's an inspiring port of call that provides a question you can pose to fellow world travellers back home: "Sure, you've been around... but have you seen Mayotte?"

BEYOND THE HORIZON...

ARE MODERN CITIES STEEPED IN ANCIENT TRADITIONS

By travelling so far and wide, this epic voyage visits a collection of cities and countries that have developed over time and across waves of conquest, destruction and renaissance. Many of these destinations are home to UNESCO World Heritage sites that allow you to gain a hands-on appreciation for the heritage and history that came before.

Spanish colonial architecture competes with skyscrapers in Manila, where you'll find one of the four Baroque Churches of the Philippines, a UNESCO World Heritage site since 1993. Located in Intramuros, Manila's walled Old City, the 16th-century San Agustin Church fuses European design with local materials that created a new tradition of church-building in the Philippines.

Penang has long been a crossroads of east and west culture and today it boasts a thriving arts scene and colourful carnivals. The well-preserved heritage buildings of Penang's capital, George Town, were designated a UNESCO World Cultural Heritage site in 2008. Unlike other sites called out for their historical significance, George Town remains a diverse and thriving blend of old and new.

Halfway between Gibraltar and Barcelona, the port city of Alicante is known for its glistening architecture, medieval castle and predictably buzzing nightlife (this is Spain, after all). It's also home to Palmeral of Elche, a haven of date palm trees that was originally laid out during the construction of the Muslim city of Elche in the 10th century AD, when the bulk of the Iberian Peninsula was Arab. It was designated a UNESCO World Heritage site in 2000. With over 200,000 palm trees, it's a perfect oasis to wander within as you ponder your world cruise, which will draw to a close in Barcelona.

2023 WORLD CRUISE GALA AT THE MANDARIN ORIENTAL

6 January 2023 – Miami

Enjoy a stately send-off with a luxurious pre-cruise gala at the stunning Mandarin Oriental in Miami. Dawn your best cocktail attire and mingle with your fellow world cruisers at an elegant cocktail reception, followed by an exquisite dinner and live entertainment.

CULTURAL DELIGHTS & COLOURFUL TRADITIONS AT TAMAN BHAGAWAN

27 February 2023 – Bali

Enjoy an evening of lively dances, music and the colourful lights of traditional Balinese performers at Taman Bhagawan, a stunning tropical garden setting by the sea. The smiling faces of beautiful Balinese children will welcome you with music and lights as you arrive for an evening of entertainment. During cocktails, take in a fascinating show by local dancers depicting the Kecak, also known as the monkey dance, which tells the mythical story of the fight between Prince Rama and the evil King Ravana. Your delicious, Balinese-inspired dinner will be accompanied by additional Legong dancing, the magical Barong Dance and Beleganjur music. This unique event will conclude with a special gift from your Balinese hosts as a souvenir of your special evening among friends.

AN ILLUMINATED EVENING BY THE BAY

29 March 2023 – Singapore

As the sun sets over Singapore, the dazzling Gardens by the Bay will light up the night to welcome you into a truly magical evening. Experience the beauty and engineering marvel of the largest glass greenhouse in the world, the Flower Dome, exhibiting an incredibly unique display of plant species from the far-flung regions of the world. Enjoy cocktails in the Waterview Room for breath-taking views of Singapore, overlooking the gardens. Then, the highlight of the evening begins: an extravagant dinner held at the elegant Flower Field Hall. Enjoy a wonderful selection of local dishes accompanied by a lively multicultural show lit from above by a luminous field of flowers.

MOONSCAPES & MOONLIGHT IN NAMIBIA

8 May 2023 – Walvis Bay

Just beyond Walvis Bay, the Swakop River Canyon has been likened to a moonscape with its unusual rock formations and dry riverbeds seared into the landscape by the glaring sun. Sunset is the most stunning time of day to visit this canyon, as the fading light casts dramatic shadows across the stark environment, and the perfect opportunity for the beginning to an unforgettable evening under the stars. The soft, linen-draped tables stand in contrast to the course, stark beauty of the glowing desert. A fire crackles with a myriad of candles surrounding the festivities for an ethereal glow as they reflect off the canyon walls during a wonderful dinner featuring exquisite local dishes.
