River moments

Going on holiday with VIVA Cruises means every day begins with a river moment. Directly from your cabin, you can experience new views to fall in love with, every single morning. Fascinating landscapes, passing by romantic villages nestled on the river banks, exciting big cities, waiting to be discovered by you – whatever it is that makes your heart beat faster, we will take you there!

Old and new favourite routes present exciting destinations along Europe's most beautiful rivers. You can look forward to unforgettable days, which you can organise individually or with our varied excursion programme. Allow yourself to be captivated by world-famous cultural sites, follow in the footsteps of great artists or explore unique natural treasures. Best of all, your hotel travels with you and becomes your very own haven of well-being, to which you return with wonderful memories after every shore excursion.

Your holiday is a matter close to our heart. Whether planning your next dream trip or on board our modern ships – we always endeavour to satisfy your wishes. Our attentive crew will treat you to culinary delights and exquisite drinks. We do our utmost to ensure that you enjoy your well-deserved holidays: from the first to the last minute. That's why, thanks to VIVA All-Inclusive, all amenities and even tips are already included in the tour price.

In addition to the fantastically beautiful "evergreens" such as the Danube, the Moselle and the Baltic Sea coast, from this year on, we will also present you what the Meuse has to offer. We can already reveal one thing: The longest tributary of the Rhine is simply amazing! We are looking forward to finding out which our selected routes will capture your heart.

ONE will be followed by TWO: A special VIVA moment in 2023 will be the addition of our second new VIVA TWO to the fleet. You can look forward to it with us.

ENJOY THE MOMENT!

River aware

Passing riverside landscapes enchant with their beauty. With lush greenery, picturesque villages and majestic rock faces reflected in the calm water. These are impressions that become memories. This makes it all the more important for us to preserve these precious natural treasures and to treat the available resources with respect. For VIVA Cruises, environmentally friendly travel on Europe's most beautiful rivers begins with responsible route planning and continues on board, where we avoid unnecessary plastic waste. Our guests are provided with reusable bottles that can be filled at water dispensers at any time. Our excellent cuisine has a balanced range of vegetarian and vegan dishes. Plus, while you're exploring the next destination on your voyage, the word for our ships in many ports is: engine off! The use of shore power protects the environment. Propulsion is provided by the virtually sulfur-free fuel GTL, which significantly reduces CO2 consumption and drastically lowers emissions. By adding biofuel, we can also improve the eco-balance immensely. We want to leave big traces exclusively in the hearts of our guests.

We assume our responsibility for people, nature, and the river. See for yourself and find out more about our philosophy.

- GTL fuel, biodegradable
- use of shore power possible
- responsible route planning
- vegetarian and vegan dishes
- reduction of CO₂ consumption
- almost all of our furniture is made from 100% reclaimed wood
- avoidance of plastic e.g. through water dispensers and reusable bottles
- CO₂-neutral through compensation*

*VIVA Cruises supports the environmental initiative REDD+ Business, which, among other things, is committed to the protection of rainforests and their reforestation.

Create your own Moment

Do you want to paraglide over the Rhine, cycle along the Moselle, explore the Hungarian capital on a day trip, enjoy a wine tasting with a view across the Danube, or go exploring in Bratislava with your personal guide? Simply let us know what you would like to see and experience, and we will put together your tailor-made excursion. You can request our exclusive programme for all destinations. We are also happy to advise you on your very own, personalised excursion. Our offer includes the complete tour, excluding entrance fees and items for your personal needs. If you wish, we can also put together a package for you that includes everything. True to our motto: Enjoy the Moment!

Voyage of discovery

Whether nature lovers, gourmets, or culture enthusiasts – with VIVA Cruises, they all discover Europe's most beautiful metropolises from the river, all year round.

Sometimes meandering gently and almost stagnant – sometimes torrentially gushing and wild. Europe's rivers are unique and reveal pristine nature, picturesque villages, and mysterious hidden wonders, just behind the next bend.

Come on board, we will take you on an unforgettable journey and guarantee memorable moments.

VIVA TWO Maiden Voyage

Unique moments

While we are still raving about a wonderful maiden voyage with VIVA ONE, VIVA TWO is getting ready for the big moment. On April, 1, 2023, it's "cast off time" for our youngest, and we can hardly wait to experience this very special journey together with you. We start against the imposing backdrop of the Frankfurt skyline and follow the River Main upstream, where modern architecture gives way to enchanting half-timbered façades and cosy old towns. On the way to the three-river city of Passau, you will have plenty of time to get to know our second new build at your leisure. You can look forward to enjoying generously-designed architecture, light colours, and natural materials that make it easy to feel at home on board. Every culinary wish is catered to – from freshly-grilled burgers, right up to an exquisite menu in the speciality restaurant MOMENTS, small and large moments of inspiration are sure to sweeten your voyage, which is another highlight in the history of VIVA Cruises.

Crime Cruises

GMEINER

Münster

Crime cruise with author reading

In 2023, there will once again be suspense on board the SWISS RUBY. There will be captivating readings and mysterious crime stories between Duesseldorf and Berlin, when selected authors read from their works. Listen to the individual chapters, immerse yourself in another world far from everyday life, and seize the opportunity to talk to the authors in person. Our crime cruises take place in cooperation with the Gmeiner publishing house, which specialises in German crime novels. So what could be more natural than to visit the original locations where the stories come to life during the cruise? Exclusive specials await crime fans: learn more about the work of a profiler or enjoy first-class entertainment at the crime theatre. You can find out which guests and highlights await you on board on our website at www.viva-cruises.com/krimi-kreuzfahrten.

Brussels

Welcome to the heart of Europe! Not only is Brussels the capital of Belgium; this is also the birthplace of European politics. The Atomium, built for the World Fair in 1958, the Manneken Pis, as a symbol of freedom of speech and the Grand-Place, surrounded by majestic guild houses, count among the “stars” of the many sights. They stand in exciting contrast to the futuristic glass façades found in the European Quarter. Brussels’ gastronomy enjoys an excellent reputation. Culinary experiences, in a class of their own, await you here, both at the roadside and in Michelin-starred restaurants. Fine chocolate creations will enchant you as much as the famous waffles with their sweet toppings, or the officially distinguished best French fries in the world. If you don’t want to leave Brussels without a souvenir, take a stroll through the Galeries Royales Saint-Hubert. In the wonderful atmosphere of the historic shopping arcade, which was built in 1846, no shopping wish remains unfulfilled.

Trier

Trier is the oldest city in Germany – and it lives up to its superlative. In late antiquity, the town on the Moselle used to be one of the largest cities in the Roman Empire. How fortunate that numerous monuments still tell the tale of the former metropolis’ importance. They include the Porta Nigra, built as a magnificent city gate, the amphitheatre, with its preserved cellar vault, and the Barbara Baths, which can also be visited after their restoration. St. Peter’s Cathedral, with its imposing cloister, is also part of the Moselle city’s important “UNESCO World Heritage Site”. What is more, Trier is also located in one of Germany’s most beautiful wine-growing areas. Cosy wine taverns invite you to linger and reflect on the impressions you have gathered.

Loreley

In the midst of the “UNESCO World Heritage Site” of the Upper Middle Rhine Valley, the bronze statue of the Loreley sits enthroned on a slate rock and sparkles seductively in the evening sunshine. The myth, described by Clemens Brentano to Heinrich Heine, goes hand in hand with a natural phenomenon that used to be the death of many sailors in the past: The rocky reefs are approaching, and the Rhine begins to gush, setting the course for a sharp bend. Numerous ruins, castles, and wine-growing villages observe this impressive spectacle, which is unsurpassed in drama and romance to this very day.

Wertheim

It’s no secret: Wertheim is a wonderful shopping destination. However, the northernmost city in Baden-Württemberg has so much more to offer than merely its popular outlet village. As if it were painted, it is located at the confluence of the Main and Tauber rivers. Anyone who enjoys strolling through historic old towns will have a wonderful time here. Richly-decorated half-timbered houses, cobbled alleys, and one of the largest castle ruins in Germany bear proud witness to past centuries. When you look down from the castle, towering high above the old town, an entire region reveals its unique charm. Water, forests, and vineyards: Wertheim has a fantastically beautiful backdrop. Active people are sure to find a wealth of opportunities here to discover the charming surroundings on a hike or by bike.

Miltenberg

Brussels

Historical tasting

Our guides will pick you up at the ship and take you to one of Germany's most beautiful market squares, known as the Schnatterloch. The staggered, proud half-timbered houses from the 14th to 17th centuries are presented almost as if staged. As you meander through the small alleys of the town, you will pass by other impressive buildings.

easy - moderate

ca. 3,0 hours

Bratislava

You can even see its magnificent landmark from the harbour: Bratislava Castle towers over the Slovakian capital on an 85-metre-high hill. If you are sporty, you can reach the castle by foot and visit St. Martin's Cathedral, the Old Town Hall, and St. Michael's Gate among the red roofs. Equally fantastic views are promised by the UFO, the viewing platform above the Slovak National Uprising Bridge. Yet, you don't have to go high up to discover the beauties of Bratislava. On the contrary: sometimes it's even worth looking down. This is because in the middle of the historic old town, "canal watcher" Cumil observes the passers-by. You should definitely stop at the friendly statue when walking through the centre of the former coronation city at the foot of the Little Carpathians.

Belgrade

The "white city", which is the translation of the Serbian name, Beograd, is anything but colourless. The Balkan metropolis is marked by its turbulent past. The scars of this time are as much a part of the cityscape as is the spirit of optimism that can both be felt and seen. Belgrade is home to approximately 1.7 million inhabitants – and with the monumental Cathedral of St. Sava, it boasts one of the largest Orthodox houses of worship in the world. A stroll along the Knez Mihailova shopping street, with its shops, cafés and exciting mix of architecture leads straight to Belgrade Fortress. Here you can enjoy not only the unique view down to the mouth of the Sava River, but also the tranquillity of the extensive Kalemegdan Park.

Vienna

“My heart and my mind are always raving about Vienna,” Peter Alexander sang about the metropolis on the Danube. A declaration of love that is understood by everyone who visits Vienna. Walking in the footsteps of the emperors, admiring world-famous works by Monet and Picasso, and marvelling at architectural highlights on every corner – all of this is only possible here. The Austrian capital has real treasures to offer: Schönbrunn Palace with its beautiful park, the Hofburg with the Sisi Museum, and the Spanish Riding School, as well as St. Stephen’s Cathedral, as a Gothic masterpiece, are merely a few of them. Nevertheless, there is nothing hectic about the “city of music”, where Mozart, Beethoven, and Haydn lived and composed their famous works. You will find pure relaxation in one of the stylish coffee houses – ideally while enjoying a slice of Sacher cake.

Solt (Kalocsa)

Solt and Kalocsa are located on the eastern bank of the Danube in the Great Hungarian Plain. The region lives from a varied range of agricultural produce, ranging from grain, fruit, flax, and bell peppers. Nowhere else on earth are more bell peppers grown, and Kalocsa even has an entire museum dedicated to the vegetable. The Cathedral Square, the Cathedral of the Assumption of Mary, where Franz Liszt once sat at the organ, and the Episcopal Palace with its library, ceremonial hall, and remarkable ceiling frescoes are also worth a visit. Artistic craftsmanship has traditionally played an important role in the region: to this day, elaborate embroideries and fine paintings on ceramics, walls, and furniture are expressions of lively Hungarian folk art.

Avignon

Who doesn't know the French folk song "Sur le Pont d'Avignon", which made the city on the left bank of the Rhône world-famous? Avignon gained its true importance in the 14th century, though, when the Pope sought exile there because of warlike unrest. True to the motto "Where the Pope is, there is Rome", a brilliant period of prosperity dawned, accompanied by the construction of Gothic monasteries and churches. With its jagged parapets and massive towers, the monumental Papal Palace resembles a fortress and serves as a unique backdrop for an annual theatre festival. Yet, it is not only art lovers who are drawn to the picturesque lavender landscape of Provence, but also people who love pleasure.

Martigues

Its location on the water has earned Martigues its name as "Venice of Provence". Halfway between Marseille and Arles, the town welcomes its guests with Mediterranean serenity. The three districts of Jonquières, L'Île, and Ferrières originally were independent fishing villages. Even today, wooden fishing boats gently rock on the waves alongside chic yachts. The spectacle at Quai Brescon is particularly picturesque. When colourful house façades and boats are reflected in the dark water, you are guaranteed to find charming photo motifs. If you would like to get to know the regional cuisine, you should visit one of the harbour's market stalls first thing in the morning and start your day with delicious fish specialities.

Chalon-sur-Saône

The second largest town in Burgundy has a firm place in international art history. In autumn 1826, the world's oldest surviving photograph was taken here. The creative tinkerer, Nicéphore Niépce, was born in Chalon-sur-Saône. A museum is dedicated to him, where photography enthusiasts can marvel at millions of pictures and more than 1,000 cameras, including the first five ever built. The rest of the city is also artistic: its rich architectural heritage is revealed on a walk that should definitely lead to the Cathédrale Saint-Vincent in the historic centre. When crossing the river, you will enjoy an enchanting view of the silhouette of Chalon-sur-Saône from L'île Saint-Laurent.

Tournon-sur-Rhône & Tain-l'Hermitage

Winegrowing has a centuries-old tradition in the Rhône Valley. Along the sun-drenched slopes of Tain-l'Hermitage, the grapes from renowned winemakers, who are known far beyond the country's borders, ripen for excellent wines. But Tain l'Hermitage is not only a true paradise for lovers of Syrah, Marsanne, and Roussanne. In the chocolate museum, the Cité de Chocolat, everything revolves around sweet products made from the cocoa bean – tastings included. The picturesque Passerelle Marc Seguin, France's oldest pedestrian bridge in use, connects the town with Tournon-sur-Rhône on the other bank. The climb up to the castle rewards you with a magnificent view of the valley. For those who prefer taking a deep breath after feasting, we recommend relaxing in the Garden of Eden within the old city walls.

Deauville

John Travolta, Roger Moore, Elizabeth Taylor – they are big names who adorn the bathing huts on the seemingly endless beach promenade of Deauville. They have all been here. This is because, ever since 1975, with its Festival of American Cinema, the Norman coastal town has been an annual magnet for the stars of the film industry. Those who come to Deauville, experience French grandeur in an informal atmosphere – and get to know Normandy from a whole new side. The wealthy Parisians once strolled along the fine sandy beach. The exclusive seaside resort on the flowery coast was built for them in the mid-19th century. Even today, luxury hotels, chic beach villas, a horse racing track, and the casino exude sophisticated elegance. Bet you'll feel like a star yourself here.

Étretat

With its imposing cliffs, the seaside resort of Étretat has become famous far beyond the borders of France. Famous painters such as Claude Monet, Edgar Degas, and Eugène Boudin set up their easels here and captured the wild beauty of the bizarre rock formations on canvas. You can discover the artists' favourite motifs for yourself. A relaxing stroll along the beach or an easy hike will always open up breathtaking vistas – especially of the Porte d'Aval rock gate, with the 70-metre-high Aiguille rock needle. The tour to the cliffs can be wonderfully combined with a visit to the gardens of Étretat. Enchanting plant sculptures and artistic landscape architecture turn the gardens into a magical place that will touch you with its very own poetry.

Rouen

Victor Hugo called Rouen the city of 100 steeples. Countless sacred buildings still characterise the image of the Norman capital, most significant of all, Notre-Dame Cathedral. Its richly-detailed façade bears witness to the glorious heyday of Gothic architecture. Seven towers rise majestically into the sky, with the bell tower being the highest in France, at 151 metres. Monet was so captivated by the building that he dedicated a series of 33 works to it. Just a few minutes' walk away, the Gros-Horloge, the astronomical clock, towers over an archway. Once indispensable for navigation, its elaborate design and top mechanical performance are what fascinate us today: from 1389 to 1928, the still intact clockwork functioned without interruption. A true treasure in the heart of the historic old town!

Les Andelys

Les Andelys is located where the Seine gently meanders through green hilly landscapes in large loops. The small town on the east bank of the river is the scene of French history: high above the town, Richard the Lionheart, King of England and Duke of Normandy, had a fortress built in the 12th century. In fewer than two years, a massive castle complex was built on the limestone cliffs, whose stately ruins today tell stories of times long past. You are rewarded for your climb to the legendary Château Gaillard with a magnificent view of the Seine valley. You can enjoy nature and architecture twice in Les Andelys: While the district of Le Petit Andely beckons with its lakeside promenade and medieval flair, Le Grand Andely enchants with the impressive collegiate church of Notre-Dame.

Szczecin

Historic buildings, extensive parks and a lively cultural landscape – the green city at the mouth of the Oder is well prepared for your visit. If you would like to explore Szczecin spontaneously, simply follow the red line. It marks a circular route and leads directly to the most beautiful sights. A magnificent highlight: the Castle of the Pomeranian Dukes, with its lavishly-restored Renaissance-style façades, which tell of Szczecin's time as the capital of the Prussian province of Pomerania. From here it is not far to the famous Hakenterrasse. This imposing ensemble of sandstone buildings, steps and fountains is around 500 metres long – and the ideal spot to enjoy the view of the Oder and the hustle and bustle of the harbour.

Wolin

Wolin combines everything that makes the Baltic coast so distinctive: fine sandy beaches, an imposing steep coast, rolling dune landscapes and deep green forests. The Wolin National Park lies at the heart of Poland's sunny island. It is a paradise for rare animal species such as the white-tailed eagle – and, needless to say, also for nature lovers. The surrounding forests' tree-tops are reflected in deep blue lakes. Probably the most beautiful view is from the Gosań. It belongs to the chain of hills in the north and opens up dreamlike perspectives of the forest and the sea. After all the soothing tranquillity, would you like to enjoy the Baltic seaside flair once again? Then a walk along the promenade and the Misdroy pier will perfectly round off your Wolin stay.

Lauterbach

The Baltic Sea coast around Lauterbach is wonderfully green. Did you know that the fishing village southeast of Putbus was the first seaside resort on the island of Rügen? Its founder already fell in love with the forest area, which today invites you to take relaxing walks through ancient trees – including breathtaking views of the island of Vilm. After a typical island snack in the harbour, perhaps you would like to take enjoy a relaxing bike ride to neighbouring Putbus? The classicist buildings around the “Circus” are just as worth seeing as the extensive castle park, with its stately redwood trees. If you would like to see even more of Germany’s largest Baltic island, simply hop aboard the legendary Rasende Roland.

Greifswald

Even a visit to the market square, which is lined with stately gabled houses, reveals that Greifswald looks like a Hanseatic town straight from a picture book. Caspar David Friedrich also found his home town so inspiring that he immortalised it in countless drawings. You can follow in the footsteps of the Romantic artist on a picture trail that opens up new perspectives at 15 stations. Here, you can admire some of his paintings in the Pomeranian State Museum, which also vividly presents the history of Pomerania. You should take the time to plan a stop at the oldest museum harbour in Germany. More than 50 ships recall the heyday of sailing and bear witness to the impressive art of ship and boat builders.

Standard Terms and Conditions¹

1. Conclusion of Package Travel Contract/liability for fellow passengers

1.1 The following applies to all bookings through any channel:

- a) The offer underlying the contract is based on the travel proposal and supplementary information provided by VIVA Cruises for the respective package travel (hereinafter "Package Tour"; "Tour" or "Package"), provided that these are available to the customer at the time of booking.
- b) The customer shall be responsible for all contractual obligations of fellow passengers for whom he² makes the booking, in the same manner as for his own to the extent that he has assumed this obligation in an express and separate statement.
- c) If the content of the notice of acceptance from VIVA Cruises deviates from the content of the booking, VIVA Cruises is deemed to have made a new offer, by which VIVA Cruises is bound for a period of ten days. The contract is concluded on the basis of this new offer provided that VIVA Cruises has pointed out the changes with respect to the new offer and complied with its pre-contractual obligation to provide information and if the customer declares his acceptance thereof to VIVA Cruises within the aforementioned binding period by express statement or by effecting the down payment.
- d) Travel agents (e.g. tourist agencies) and service providers (e.g. carriers) are not authorised to make agreements, provide information or give assurances which alter the agreed content of the Package Travel Contract, go beyond the services contractually promised by VIVA Cruises or contradict the travel proposal.
- e) VIVA Cruises notifies the customer of his rights under data privacy laws on the separate data privacy information sheets and asks him to take note of them.

1.2 The following applies to bookings made orally, by telephone, in writing, by email, text message or fax:

- a) With his booking (travel registration) the customer submits a binding offer to VIVA Cruises for the conclusion of the Package Travel Contract ("Contract" or "Package Travel Contract").
- b) The Contract is concluded upon receipt of the booking confirmation (notice of acceptance) by VIVA Cruises. It does not require any particular form. Upon or immediately after conclusion of the Contract, VIVA Cruises will send the customer a travel confirmation in writing or in text form.

1.3 The following applies with regard to the conclusion of the Contract to bookings by way of electronic business transactions (e.g. Internet, apps, telemedia³):

- a) The process of online booking is explained to the customer on the respective application.
- b) The customer has the option to make corrections (with explanations provided of how to use this option) for correcting his entries, deleting or resetting the entire booking form.
- c) The contractual languages offered for online booking are specified.
- d) If the text of the Contract is stored by VIVA Cruises, the customer will be informed accordingly, including the possibility of later retrieval of the text of the Contract.
- e) By pressing the button „booking subject to payment“, the customer submits a binding offer to VIVA Cruises for the conclusion of the Package Travel Contract.
- f) The customer will immediately receive confirmation of receipt of his booking (travel registration) by electronic means (confirmation of receipt).
- g) The transmission of the booking (travel registration) by pressing the button „booking subject to payment“ does not establish a claim of the customer for the conclusion of a Package Travel Contract in accordance with his booking (travel registration). The Contract is concluded upon receipt of the booking confirmation from VIVA Cruises by the customer provided on a permanent data medium.
- h) If the booking is confirmed immediately after pressing the button „booking subject to payment“ by a display of the booking confirmation directly on the screen, then the Package Travel Contract has been concluded with the display of this booking confirmation. In this case, there is no need for an interim notification of the receipt of the booking according to lit. f) above, provided that the customer is offered the option to save the booking confirmation on a permanent data medium and to print it. However, the binding nature of the Package Travel Contract does not depend on the customer actually using these options for saving or printing the confirmation.

- 1.4 VIVA Cruises points out that according to the law (Sections 312 Paragraph 7, 312g Paragraph 2 Sentence 1 No. 9 German Civil Code (Bürgerliches Gesetzbuch; "BGB") package travel contracts pursuant to Sections 651a and 651c BGB entered into as distance contracts (letters, catalogues, telephone calls, faxes, email, text messages sent by cell phone as well as radio, telemedia and online services) are not subject to the customer's right of withdrawal from the Contract but only to the customer's statutory rights of cancellation and termination, in particular the right of cancellation pursuant to section 651h BGB (see also Clause 5 in this respect). There is a right of withdrawal, however, if the contract for travel services according to Section 651a BGB was entered into outside business premises, unless the oral negotiations, on which the conclusion of the contract is based, were conducted on the basis of a prior order of the consumer; in that latter case, the right of withdrawal does not apply.

2. Payment

- 2.1 VIVA Cruises has insolvency insurance (customer finance guarantor contract) with tourVERS to cover the travel price to be paid by the customer. A guarantee certificate will be attached to the travel confirmation, to the copy of the Contract or their back.

VIVA Cruises and travel agents may only demand or accept payments on account of the travel price before the end of the Package Tour if an effective customer finance guarantor contract is in place and the customer has been provided with tourVERS's name and contact details in a clear and comprehensible manner, with that information highlighted. After conclusion of the Contract and handing over of the guarantee certificate, a down payment of 20% of the travel price becomes due for payment. The balance is due 30 days prior to the commencement of the Tour, provided that the guarantee certificate has been handed over and the Package Travel Contract can no longer be cancelled for the reason stated in Clause 8.1.

- 2.2 If the customer does not make the down payment and/or the payment of the balance in accordance with the agreed payment due dates even though VIVA Cruises is ready and in a position to properly perform its contractual services, has complied with its legal obligation to provide information, and the customer has no statutory or contractual right of retention, VIVA Cruises is entitled to cancel the Package Travel Contract after a reminder setting a deadline, and to charge the customer cancellation costs in accordance with Clause 5.2 sentence 2, to Clause 5.6.

3. Changes to the contents of the Contract prior to the commencement of the Tour not affecting the travel price

- 3.1 VIVA Cruises is permitted to deviate prior to the commencement of the Tour from the agreed content of the Package Travel Contract with respect to essential features of travel services, where such deviations become necessary after conclusion of the Contract and were not brought about by VIVA Cruises in bad faith, provided that such deviations are insignificant in nature and will not impair the overall Package Tour.
- 3.2 VIVA Cruises is entitled to in particular but not limited to make changes in travel times, routes and/or means of transport which become necessary due to the special conditions affecting travel by ship, due to security reasons or weather conditions or high or low water, due to orders issued by authorities (e.g. travel warnings issued by the Federal Foreign Office, restrictions due to an epidemic), for the protection of the health and safety of employees, crew and/or customers (e.g. from an epidemic) or for other reasons for which VIVA Cruises is not responsible, provided that these are minor changes only that will not affect the overall character of the Tour.
- 3.3 VIVA Cruises is obliged to inform the customer of any change to the travel services without undue delay after knowledge of its reason, on a permanent data medium (e.g. including an email, text message or voice message) in a clear and comprehensible manner, with that information highlighted.
- 3.4 In the event of a significant change of an essential feature of a travel service or a deviation from special specifications of the customers, which have become part of the Package Travel Contract, the customer is entitled to the following within the reasonable period set by VIVA Cruises in the notification of the change:
- either accept the change;
 - or cancel the Package Travel Contract at no charge;
 - or request participation in a substitute tour if VIVA Cruises offered one.

The customer has the option to respond or not to respond to VIVA Cruises' notification. If the customer responds to VIVA Cruises, he may either agree with the change of the Contract, request his participation in a substitute tour if one is offered to him, or cancel the Contract at no charge.

If the customer fails to respond to VIVA Cruises or fails to do so within the period set, the notified change shall be deemed to have been accepted.

The customer must be made aware of this in a clear and comprehensible manner, with that information highlighted, in the notification pursuant to Clause 3.3 above.

- 3.5 Should the changed services be defective, potential warranty claims shall remain unaffected. If VIVA Cruises had lower costs for the performance of the changed or substitute tour for equivalent quality, the customer must be reimbursed in the amount of the difference in accordance with Section 651m Paragraph 2 BGB.

4. Price changes after conclusion of Contract

- 4.1 VIVA Cruises reserves the right to change the price agreed in the Package Travel Contract in the event that the increase in the travel price results directly from an increase occurring after conclusion of the Contract in the price for the carriage of passengers due to higher costs for fuel or other energy sources (costs of carriage), taxes and other charges for agreed services such as tourist taxes, port or airport charges or air passenger taxes or a change in the exchange rates applicable to the relevant Package occurring after conclusion of the Contract, as follows:
- a) If the underlying costs of carriage (in particular fuel costs) increase after conclusion of the Package Travel Contract, VIVA Cruises may increase the travel price according to the following calculation:
- In the case of an increase related to the seat or bed, VIVA Cruises may charge the amount of the increase to the customer.
 - In other cases, the additional costs of carriage charged by the carrier per means of transport are divided by the number of seats or beds of the agreed means of transport. The amount of the increase resulting from that calculation may be charged by VIVA Cruises to the customer for the individual seat or bed.
- b) If taxes and other levies such as tourist taxes, port/airport charges or air passenger taxes applicable at the time of conclusion of the Package Travel Contract charged to VIVA Cruises are increased, the travel price may be increased by the corresponding proportional amount.
- c) In the event of a change in the exchange rates after conclusion of the Package Travel Contract, the travel price may be increased to the extent that the Package has become more expensive for VIVA Cruises as a result.
- d) In the event of a subsequent change in the travel price, VIVA Cruises must inform the customer without undue delay in a clear and comprehensible manner on a permanent data medium (e.g. an email) about the price increase, its reasons and the calculation of the increase. The price may not be increased less than 20 days before the commencement of the Tour.
- e) VIVA Cruises may not unilaterally increase prices by more than 8%. VIVA Cruises shall offer the customer the price increase and request that the customer either accept it within a reasonable period of time or cancel the Contract at no cost. The offer to increase the price may not be made less than 20 days before the commencement of the Tour. VIVA Cruises may also offer the customer to participate in another Package (substitute). The customer has no legal claim to this option. Upon expiry of the period specified by VIVA Cruises, the offer to amend the Contract shall be deemed accepted. The acceptance by the customer of any substitute VIVA Cruises may offer requires the customer's express notice of acceptance to VIVA Cruises.
- 4.2 At the customer's request, VIVA Cruises is obliged to reduce the travel price if and to the extent that the costs of carriage, taxes or exchange rates referred to in Clause 4.1 have changed after conclusion of the Contract and before the commencement of the Tour to such extent that the Package comes at a lower cost to VIVA Cruises. If the customer has paid more than the amount owed as a result, VIVA Cruises shall refund the excess amount, while VIVA Cruises is entitled to deduct the actual administrative expenses incurred. At the customer's request, VIVA Cruises shall provide evidence of the amount of administrative expenses incurred.

5. Cancellation of the Contract by the customer prior to commencement of the Tour/cancellation costs

- 5.1 The customer may cancel the Package at any time prior to the commencement of the Tour. The cancellation must be expressed by notice given to VIVA Cruises. If the Package was booked through a travel agent, the notice of cancellation may also be given to the agent. It is recommended that the customer give his notice of cancellation in text form on a permanent data medium.
- 5.2 If the customer cancels prior to the commencement of the Tour or does not set out on the Package Tour, VIVA Cruises loses the right to claim the travel price. Instead, VIVA Cruises may claim appropriate compensation if VIVA Cruises is not responsible for the cancellation or if unavoidable, extraordinary circumstances occur at or in the immediate vicinity of the destination which significantly impair the performance of the Package Tour or the carriage of passengers to the destination. Circumstances shall be deemed unavoidable and extraordinary if they are not under the control of the party that invokes them and their consequences could not have been avoided even if all reasonable precautions had been taken.
- 5.3 VIVA Cruises has determined the following lump sum compensation, taking into account the period between the notice of cancellation and the commencement of the Tour as well as the expected cost savings and the expected earnings by the use of the travel services in another way. The compensation shall be calculated as follows after the date of receipt of the notice of cancellation:

Up to 120 days prior to the commencement of the Tour 10%, from the 119th to the 90th day prior to the commencement of the Tour 20%,
from the 89th to the 30th day prior to the commencement of the Tour 40%,
from the 29th to the 15th day prior to the commencement of the Tour 60%, from the 14th to the 1st day prior to the commencement of the Tour 80% of the travel price,

Cancellation on the date of the Tour or failure to set out on the Package Tour: 90% of the travel price.

- 5.4 In any case, the customer is at liberty to prove to VIVA Cruises that VIVA Cruises has incurred no damage or a substantially lower damage than the lump sum claimed by VIVA Cruises.
- 5.5 VIVA Cruises reserves the right to claim a higher compensation instead of the above lump sums, calculated individually on the basis of the travel price less the value of the costs saved by VIVA Cruises and less what VIVA Cruises earns through the use of the travel services in another way. In this case, VIVA Cruises is obliged to justify upon the customer's request the amount of the compensation claimed.
- 5.6 If, in the case of a jointly booked double cabin, one passenger paying full fare cancels prior to the commencement of the Tour, with the consequence that the double cabin is now used as a single cabin, VIVA Cruises is entitled to the compensation specified under 5.3., but at least to a lump sum compensation in the amount of the surcharge otherwise payable for a single cabin at the time of booking. The same applies if a customer paying full fare cancels a cabin booked for several passengers, so that a cabin, which is originally intended for three or four people, is used by fewer people.
- 5.7 If VIVA Cruises is obliged to reimburse the travel price (if already paid) as a result of the cancellation, VIVA Cruises shall reimburse it without undue delay, but in any case within 14 days of the cancellation.
- 5.8 VIVA Cruises strongly recommends that the customer take out travel cancellation insurance and luggage and travel accident insurance (in the event that interruption of travel, e.g. due to an accident, becomes necessary).

6. Change of reservation

- 6.1 After conclusion of the Contract, the customer is not entitled to changes with regard to the travel date, the destination, place of departure, accommodation or the mode of carriage (rebooking). This shall not apply if the rebooking is required because VIVA Cruises failed to provide the customer with pre-contractual information as defined in Art. 250 Paragraph 3 Introductory Act to the Civil Code ("EGBGB"), or provided insufficient or erroneous pre-contractual information; in this case, rebooking is allowed free of charge. If, in all other cases, a rebooking is nevertheless made at the customer's request at least 90 days prior to commencement of the Tour, VIVA Cruises may charge a rebooking fee of 50 € per customer. In individual cases, e.g. where flights are involved, the additional rebooking costs may be considerably higher.
- 6.2 Any rebooking requests made by the customer after expiry of the 90-day period, if possible at all, requires the cancellation of the Package Travel Contract in accordance with the terms set forth in Clauses 5.2 to 5.7 with simultaneous new registration. This does not apply to rebooking requests that cause only negligible costs.
- 6.3 Any airline charges for the correction of names on airline tickets that have already been issued (as opposed to a change of the passenger) may be passed on to the customer. In addition to this, VIVA Cruises may also charge a rebooking fee of 50 € in these cases.
- 6.4 The customer may make a declaration to VIVA Cruises up to 7 days in advance of the commencement of the Tour that not the customer himself but a third party will join the Package Travel Contract as a party to the Contract, assuming all rights and obligations thereunder. This declaration must be made on a durable medium (paper or electronic). VIVA Cruises is entitled to object to the third party joining the Contract if that third party is not in compliance with the contractual requirements for the Tour. If a third party joins the Contract, this third party and the customer shall be liable to VIVA Cruises as joint and several debtors for the travel price and the additional costs incurred due to the third party joining the Contract. These additional costs must be appropriate and must have actually been incurred, which VIVA Cruises shall prove to the customer.

6.5 Rebooking fees are due and payable immediately.

7. Services not used

If the customer does not make use of individual travel services properly provided to him for reasons attributable to him (e.g. premature return or for other compelling reasons), he is not entitled to a pro rata refund of the travel price, unless such reasons would have entitled him to cancel or terminate the Package Travel Contract free of charge in accordance with the law. VIVA Cruises will endeavour to reimburse the expenses saved by the service providers. This obligation shall not apply in the case of entirely insignificant services.

8. Minimum number of participants not reached/Cancellation by VIVA Cruises prior to the commencement of the Tour

8.1 The minimum number of participants for all VIVA Cruises Package Tours is 80 persons.

If the minimum number of participants is not reached, VIVA Cruises may cancel the Package Travel Contract only if VIVA Cruises has

- a) specified the minimum number of participants in the pre-contractual information and has given the latest date by which the notification must be received by the customer prior to the contractually agreed commencement of the Tour; and
- b) specified the minimum number of participants and the latest date for cancellation in the travel confirmation.

Notice of cancellation must be given to the customer by the 31st day prior to the agreed commencement of the Tour at the latest, but in any event no later than by the date indicated to the customer in the pre-contractual information and the travel confirmation.

Should it become apparent at an earlier point in time that the minimum number of participants cannot be reached, VIVA Cruises must exercise its cancellation right without undue delay.

8.2. VIVA Cruises may also cancel the Package Travel Contract prior to the commencement of the Tour if VIVA Cruises is prevented from fulfilling the Contract due to unavoidable extraordinary circumstances. Circumstances are unavoidable and extraordinary if they are beyond the control of the party invoking them and their consequences could not have been prevented even if all reasonable precautions had been taken. Unavoidable and extraordinary circumstances are e.g. wars, civil wars, natural disasters, occurring epidemics (in particular the Covid-19 epidemic), terrorist attacks as well as official orders issued after the conclusion of the Contract, entry bans (in particular due to epidemics) and travel warnings of the Foreign Office for the destination or an intermediate destination of the Tour.

Notice of cancellation according to this Clause 8.2 must be given to the customer without undue delay upon becoming aware of the reason for the cancellation.

8.3 If VIVA Cruises cancels the Contract in accordance with above Clause 8.1 or 8.2, VIVA Cruises loses the right to claim the agreed travel price. If it has already been (partially) paid, VIVA Cruises shall refund the payments made without undue delay, but in any case, within 14 days. There is no right to claim additional compensation in the event of cancellation in accordance with Clauses 8.1 and 8.2.

9. Rescission/Termination of Contract by VIVA Cruises for reasons related to behaviour, illness, or pregnancy

In the following cases, VIVA Cruises may rescind the Package Travel Contract in whole or in part without notice prior to the commencement of the journey, or terminate the Package Travel Contract in whole or in part without notice after the commencement of the journey:

a) if the customer, in the judgement of the captain, where applicable, after having consulted the ship's physician,

- is unfit to travel due to illness, infirmity, or for any other reason;
- needs to be accompanied but travels unaccompanied;
- is a danger to the health of other passengers, crew members, and employees of VIVA Cruises (e.g. due to contagion or threat of epidemic spread, e.g. Covid-19) ;
- has booked by providing false information
- notwithstanding a warning from VIVA Cruises, causes permanent or repeated disturbance or behaves contrary to the Contract to such an extent that the immediate cancellation of the Contract in whole or in part is justified;

b) in the event of pregnancy, if the customer is in her 24th week of pregnancy or beyond at the time of departure or if she reaches the 24th week of pregnancy during the voyage. In these cases, the carriage is excluded for safety reasons and due to limited medical care on board VIVA Cruises vessels. If the customer could not have known this at the time of booking, VIVA Cruises will reimburse the travel price already paid if notified immediately after the customer becoming aware of the pregnancy. If such notification is culpably delayed, VIVA Cruises reserves the right to make a claim in accordance with Clause 5. Expectant mothers less than 24 weeks pregnant at the time of embarkation must present a specialist (gynaecological) certificate of fitness to travel confirming the navigated area.

If VIVA Cruises terminates or rescinds the Contract for any of the reasons specified under a) above, the customer may be entirely or partially excluded from the (continuation of the) Tour. VIVA Cruises retains the right to claim the travel price; however, VIVA Cruises must take into account the value of the cost savings as well as those benefits that VIVA Cruises obtains from the use of the travel services in another way, including the credits VIVA Cruises receives from the service providers. Any additional costs incurred for the return trip shall be borne by the customer.

10. Duties of the customer to cooperate

10.1 Travel documents

The customer must inform VIVA Cruises if he has not received the required travel documents (e.g. flight ticket, train ticket, hotel voucher) within the period specified by VIVA Cruises.

10.2 Notice of defects / Request for remedy of defects

If the Package Tour is not provided free from travel defects, the customer may claim remedial action.

If the customer culpably fails to notify VIVA Cruises immediately of a travel defect and VIVA Cruises was therefore unable to remedy the situation, the customer is not entitled to assert claims for reduction in price according to Section 651m BGB or claims for damages according to Section 651n BGB.

This shall not apply only if the notice of defect is clearly futile or unreasonable for other reasons.

The customer is obliged to notify the representative of VIVA Cruises at the holiday destination of the defect without undue delay, i.e. the tour guide on board or on site. If the tour guide is not available, or if there is no tour guide and none is owed under the Contract, any travel defects must be reported to VIVA Cruises at its registered office under the contact information provided. Information on how to contact the tour guide or VIVA Cruises is included in the booking confirmation or is provided at the latest with the travel documents.

The tour guide is charged with remedying the situation, provided this is possible and does not entail disproportionate costs, taking into account the extent of the defect and the value of the travel service concerned. If VIVA Cruises/the tour guide invoke the impossibility or economic inefficiency of the remedy for a considerable part of the travel services, VIVA Cruises shall, if possible, offer the customer an appropriate, equivalent alternative service comparable to the service agreed upon in the Contract. The tour guide is not authorized to recognise claims.

10.3 Period allowed for remedy prior to termination of Contract

If the Package Tour is substantially impaired by a defect and a customer wishes to terminate the Package Travel Contract according to Section 651l BGB due to a defect of the kind described in Section 651i Paragraph 2 BGB, provided that it is substantial, he first has to set VIVA Cruises an appropriate period for remedy. This shall not apply if immediate remedy is necessary or the remedy is refused by VIVA Cruises.

10.4 Luggage

The customer's luggage must not contain any weapons and other dangerous objects, narcotics, as well as alcoholic beverages intended for consumption during the voyage. Clause 15.4 of these terms and conditions shall apply accordingly. Any luggage containing prohibited objects as provided above may be excluded from (further) carriage.

10.5 Damage to, and delayed delivery of, luggage in air travel; special rules and periods for seeking redress

a) The customer is advised that any delayed, lost or damaged luggage in connection with air travel must be reported by the customer in accordance with air traffic regulations to the relevant airline without undue delay on the spot by means of a damage report (P.I.R.). Airlines and tour operators may refuse refunds on the basis of international treaties if the damage report has not been completed. In the event of damage to luggage, the damage report must be filed within 7 days and in the event of delay within 21 days of delivery.

b) In addition, the loss, damage or misdirection of luggage must be reported without undue delay to the representative of VIVA Cruises (tour guide) or VIVA Cruises. This shall not release the customer from filing a damage report with the airline pursuant to lit. a) above within the periods stated above.

11. Limitation of liability

11.1 The contractual liability of VIVA Cruises for damages which do not arise from loss of life, bodily injury or damage to health and which were not culpably (intentionally or negligently) caused is limited to three times the travel price.

This maximum liability amount applies per customer and per journey.

Any further claims under the Montreal Convention or the AirTraffic Act shall remain unaffected by the limitation.

- 11.2 VIVA Cruises is not liable for disruptions to services, personal injury and damage to property in connection with services which are merely arranged by VIVA Cruises and actually provided by third parties ("Third-Party Services", e.g. excursions, sports events, theatre visits, exhibitions, transport services from and to the specified place of departure and destination) if these services are expressly marked as Third-Party Services in the travel description and booking confirmation stating the arranged contractual partner in such a clear manner that the customer is able to recognise that these services are not part of the travel services provided by VIVA Cruises. Sections 651b, 651c, 651w and 651y BGB shall remain unaffected. However, VIVA Cruises shall be liable if and to the extent that the violation of VIVA Cruises' duties of information, clarification or organisation were the cause of damage to the customer.
- 11.3 If international agreements or statutory provisions based on such agreements apply to a travel service to be provided by a service provider, according to which a claim for damages can only arise or be asserted under certain conditions or restrictions or is excluded under certain conditions, VIVA Cruises, in its capacity as the tour operator, may invoke the same in its dealings with the customer.
- 11.4 Where VIVA Cruises acts in the capacity of a contractual or performing carrier with regard to the voyage or VIVA Cruises is regarded as such according to statutory provisions, VIVA Cruises shall be liable according to the specifically applicable statutory provisions (in particular according to the provisions of the German Inland Waterways Act and the German Commercial Code).
- 11.5 Where VIVA Cruises acts in the capacity of a contractual or performing air carrier with regard to carriage by air or VIVA Cruises is regarded as such according to statutory provisions, VIVA Cruises' liability shall be governed by the specifically applicable statutory provisions or those stipulated in international agreements (including the German AirTraffic Act, the Montreal Convention).
- 11.6 VIVA Cruises shall not be liable for damage to or loss of personal items (e.g. photographic or film equipment, clothing, jewellery or other valuables) caused by theft, getting lost in any other manner, or excessive physical loads or stresses occurring off board the vessel, unless the damage or loss is due to intentional or grossly negligent conduct on the part of VIVA Cruises. Any and all liability is also excluded for storage or transport in the vehicles used for onshore activities or transfers, unless intentional or grossly negligent conduct on the part of VIVA Cruises has resulted in the damage or loss. VIVA Cruises shall be liable for damage to or loss of cabin luggage in accordance with the provisions of the German Commercial Code. Jewellery, cash, or other valuables must be safely stored and transported in the carry-on luggage during arrival and departure (not in the checked luggage).
- 11.7 If a claim is made against an employee or agent of VIVA Cruises for damage incurred in connection with the carriage, this employee or agent may, provided he proves that he acted in the performance of his duties, invoke the defences and limitations of liability which apply to VIVA Cruises under these travel conditions.

12. Limitation of actions, assertion of claims

- 12.1 The claims of the customer specified in Section 651i Paragraph 3 BGB shall be time-barred in accordance with Section 651j BGB in two years.
- 12.2 The limitation period starts to run on the day on which the PackageTour is scheduled to end according to the Contract. If the last day of that period falls on a Sunday, a public holiday recognised by the state at the place where the notice is given, or a Saturday, the next business day shall take the place of such a day.
- 12.3 Claims pursuant to Section 651i Paragraph 3 No. 2, 4-7 BGB must be lodged by the customer with VIVA Cruises. It is recommended to lodge the claim in writing on a permanent data medium.
- 12.4 If negotiations between the customer and VIVA Cruises about the claim or the circumstances substantiating the claim are pending, the limitation period shall be suspended until the customer or VIVA Cruises refuses to continue the negotiations. The limitation occurs at the earliest three months after the end of the suspension.
- 12.5 In the case of damage to, or delays in the delivery of, luggage in connection with flights in accordance with Clause 10.4, the following shall apply: A claim for damages due to damage to luggage must be asserted within 7 days, a claim for damages due to delayed luggage within 21 days after delivery.
- 12.6 The travel agency only acts as an agent when the travel Contract is concluded. It is not authorised to accept the filing of warranty and compensation claims by the customer after the end of the trip.
- 12.7 Without the consent of VIVA Cruises, customers may not transfer claims against VIVA Cruises to third parties, either in whole or in part. This does not apply among accompanying family members.

13. Carriage by air and obligation to provide information on the identity of the operating air carrier

- 13.1 If the Tour involves air carriage, this portion of the Tour shall be governed by the terms and conditions of the airline operating the respective flights (cf. also Clause 11.5 regarding liability), which terms and conditions will be provided by VIVA Cruises on request. The scheduling of these special flights depends on the availability of the airplanes on the charter market and the authorisation by air-traffic control; therefore, early morning or late-night departures or arrivals may therefore occur.
- 13.2 The EU regulation on informing air transport passengers of the identity of the operating air carrier puts VIVA Cruises under the obligation to inform the customer of the identity of the operating air carrier for any and all air transport services to be provided within the scope of the booked Package at the time of booking.

If the operating airline has not yet been determined at the time of booking, VIVA Cruises is obliged to inform the customer of the airline(s) which is/are likely to operate the flight(s).

VIVA Cruises must inform the customer accordingly as soon as VIVA Cruises knows which airline will operate the flight.

If due to changes another airline than the one specified to the customer will be the operating airline, VIVA Cruises must inform the customer accordingly. VIVA Cruises must immediately take all reasonable steps to ensure that the customer is informed of any such changes as soon as possible.

The list of airlines banned from operating within the EU („Black List“) is available on the following website: https://ec.europa.eu/transport/modes/air/safety/air-ban_en

14. Rail booking

14.1 All train tickets booked through VIVA Cruises can only be booked in connection with a package tour offered by VIVA Cruises.

14.2 The train tickets booked through VIVA Cruises must be carried on the Tour and presented upon ticket control on the train.

14.3 If the customer books a train ticket to the airport through VIVA Cruises, the customer must choose his train ride such that he reaches the airport as scheduled at least three hours prior to the departure of the flight. If the customer books a train ticket to the port, departure must be chosen such that he reaches the ship at least three hours prior to its specified departure. If these time periods are not complied with and if the customer is responsible for such non-compliance, VIVA Cruises shall not be liable for any possible consequential damages.

14.4 The train ride booked through VIVA Cruises is an integral part of the Package Tour. Any claims due to delays, train cancellations or other deficiencies of the train ride can be asserted either against VIVA Cruises or directly against DB Dialog GmbH, Servicenter Fahrgastrechte, 60647 Frankfurt am Main, Germany. For this purpose, the completed passenger rights form (Fahrgastrechte-Formular), the original train ticket, the certificate of delay, and, if applicable, any other original receipts for which the customer requires reimbursement must be submitted.

15. Passport, visa and health regulations

15.1 The customer must comply with all laws, regulations, directions or provisions of travel (rules and regulations) of the countries and ports affected by the Tour, and with all instructions issued by VIVA Cruises and its agents. VIVA Cruises shall inform customers who are citizens of EU members states about general passport and visa requirements as well as formalities required by health authorities of the country of destination, including the approximate deadlines for obtaining visas, prior to the conclusion of the Contract and any changes thereto prior to departure. Citizens of other countries may obtain that information from the competent consulate. This always under the assumption that no special circumstances apply to the person of the customer and any accompanying persons (such as dual citizenship, statelessness).

15.2 The customer is responsible for obtaining and carrying the travel documents required by the authorities (such as visa, vaccination certificates, online travel permits such as the ESTA authorisation for US travel), any necessary vaccinations and compliance with customs and foreign exchange regulations. Any loss arising from non-compliance with these regulations, e.g. the payment of cancellation costs, fines, penalties and expenses, shall be borne by the customer, unless VIVA Cruises has not provided any, or only has provided insufficient or incorrect, information. If VIVA Cruises has to pay or deposit sums of money in this connection, the customer is obliged to reimburse those immediately.

15.3. Additional costs (e.g. for additional catering on board) that arise due to a quarantine for which VIVA Cruises is not responsible are to be borne or reimbursed by the customer.

15.4 In the event that the customer fails to comply with the entry rules of individual countries or visa are not granted in time due to the customer's fault, so that the customer is unable to participate in the Tour for that reason, VIVA Cruises may charge the customer with the cancellation fees in accordance with Clause 5. In this case, the customer has the right to prove to VIVA Cruises that no damage has occurred or that the damage is significantly lower than the lump-sum compensation.

16. Information for persons with reduced mobility and other restrictions

16.1 VIVA Cruises wishes to ensure that customers with physical disabilities can enjoy a pleasant journey on board the ships of its fleet. For this purpose, VIVA Cruises must be informed of any special requests and needs of the customer due to physical impairments before booking. VIVA Cruises will then always endeavour to help the customer achieve the best possible travel experience, in particular by checking the suitability of the Package Tour requested by the customer and providing the customer with more detailed information in this respect.

16.2 The safety of the customer has priority at VIVA Cruises. For this reason, all customers who are deaf, in a wheelchair, blind or whose vision is considerably impaired despite vision aids, have to inform VIVA Cruises of their restrictions before booking. Together, we can then ponder the measures that are necessary to ensure the safety of the customer on board and for any planned excursions (e.g. accompanying person on the journey). If the restrictions only occur after booking, the customer must inform VIVA Cruises in good time so that any necessary measures can be agreed for the safety of the customer.

17. Refusal of landing permit, cost of onward journey

If the landing or entry of the customer and/or the import of his luggage in the designated port or country is refused, VIVA Cruises may transport the customer and/or his luggage to another port or country called at by the vessel and disembark them there. The customer must pay VIVA Cruises a fee corresponding to the onward journey and compensate VIVA Cruises for all other expenses incurred in connection therewith. These terms and conditions of travel shall also apply to such onward journey.

18. Assistance, salvage

VIVA Cruises shall be entitled to provide assistance to other ships, to tow and salvage ships with the vessel used. All such activities, whether previously announced or not, shall be deemed part of the Tour.

19. Medical care

The services of the ship's physician – if one is carried onboard - are not part of the Package Travel Contract. In each case, the patient concludes a separate treatment contract with the ship's physician. Only the costs of treatment resulting from an accident caused by VIVA Cruises or its employees on board or during an onshore activity organised by VIVA Cruises shall be borne by VIVA Cruises.

20. Applicable law, jurisdiction, alternative dispute resolution

20.1 These Standard Terms and Conditions and the legal relationship as a whole between VIVA Cruises and the customer are subject to the substantive law of the Federal Republic of Germany.

20.2 The place of jurisdiction for legal actions against VIVA Cruises is Düsseldorf. The place of residence of the customer shall govern the place of jurisdiction for any legal action brought by VIVA Cruises against the customer. As regards actions against customers who are merchants [as defined in the German Commercial Code], legal entities under public or private law, or persons who have their residence or habitual abode abroad, or whose residence or habitual abode is unknown at the time of bringing the action, Düsseldorf shall be agreed as the place of jurisdiction.

20.3 The provisions set forth above shall not apply

a) if and to the extent that provisions of international agreements applicable to this contractual relationship, which cannot be contracted away, provide otherwise in favour of the customer, or

b) if and to the extent that provisions of a member state of the EU to which the customer belongs, which are applicable to the Package Travel Contract and cannot be contracted away, are more favourable to the customer than these provisions or the corresponding German statutory provisions.

20.4 With a view to the German Consumer Dispute Resolution Act, VIVA Cruises points out that it is not participating in voluntary consumer dispute resolution. Should consumer dispute resolution become mandatory for VIVA Cruises after the printing of these travel conditions, VIVA Cruises will inform the customer accordingly in an appropriate manner. VIVA Cruises refers to the European online dispute resolution platform at <https://ec.europa.eu/consumers/odr/> for all travel contracts entered into by electronic legal transaction. VIVA Cruises is not currently participating in this voluntary procedure.
